Structure : The furniture is made of solid wood. The top is made of solid spruce, a blond wood very soft to the hand, and is tinted with a layer of cellulose varnish. The body is made of solid pine, and is covered by successive layers of paint and a veil of varnish to preserve the patina.

Finish : The furniture is hand-sanded, painted and aged. It gives a very natural finish and an old and unique touch to this collection!

Contrast : The bright and soft patina of the furniture is counterbalanced by the strength of the natural wood, resembling parquet flooring. It creates an interesting contrast, the hallmark of this collection.

Robustness : The solid wood structure makes the furniture very resistant. The frame is assembled following the traditional technique of tenons and mortises, a guarantee of quality and robustness.
